Our basic obedience 121 training comes in 6 sessions; Sessions to suit, the exercises we will cover in these sessions will be as follows: (depending on your dog's progress)

- Heel on the lead
- Heel off the lead
- Sit while on the lead
- Steadiness at gateways and doors
- Sit, and steadiness on passing (animals, cars and people) on the lead
- Sit, stay and lay down while on the lead, with/without distractions
- Socialisation while on the lead
- Teaching to "leave"
- Sit, and whistle recall while on a long leash (depending on progress)
- Sit, whistle recall without the leash, in a secure field (depending on progress)
- 10 minutes at the end of the 1st 2nd 3rd and 4th session, demonstrating to the owner the exercises covered, which is your homework until the next session
- The last two sessions training the owner and his/her dog all of the above depending on progress.

We aim to cover all of the above, but it also depends on your dog's progression, different breed dogs are born with different working instincts and progress in training at different rates, we cannot rush training, we have to be 100% on one command before moving onto the next.

I will introduce your dog to the whistle from day one, (if requested) this method is easier to use when it comes to training recall.

We recommend that your dog's first four sessions, are spent with the dog trainer alone, therefore, your dog has chance to get used to his/her trainer without parental ;) distraction, this is also so the trainer can assess your dog's current ability, and to help correct any faults, but our aim is to train the owner as well as the dog, so the last two sessions are, the dog's owner being trained by the trainer, and for the dog's owner to demonstrate his/her ability at handling their dog, the trainer will assess and advise the owner on his/her faults or improvements.

We also recommend bringing your dog on an empty stomach. We will require treats for your dog, not his/her usual treats but something else that he/she likes.

Session five and six, will be, trainer, training the owner and dog, recapping on all previous sessions so the owner has all training techniques and ability's to have a happy and obedient dog.

At the end of each session the trainer will demonstrate how to handle your dog, this is to help you, to keep up the training while at home. We ask all owners to keep up with the exercises, this is where a lot of dog owners fail, and they bring them to training sessions, but fail to keep up with the trainer's advice and exercises.

A happy dog makes a happy home, a well behaved dog makes a better companion, and a dog that listens, makes walkies much more enjoyable and fun for dog and owner, an obedient dog doesn't run out in front of a car.

Advice to the owner:

Start as you mean to go on, if you are consistent you will avoid confusing your puppy/dog and training will develop quicker.

Puppies have a very short attention span, so train little but often, keep it short, but simple, but most of all keep it fun. Puppies/dogs respond better to a cheerful voice, rather than threatening tones.

Gentle play builds up trust and a strong bond between you and your puppy/dog as well as making training fun.

Patience is very important in dogs training, so do not try to rush things, you will only get frustrated and confuse your puppy/dog, and may pick up bad habits. Don't put a old head on young shoulders.

Keep training interesting, introduce a range of different rewards incorporating play, fuss, praise, treats and toys, but keep it calm, this will stop both of you getting bored.

A trained dog is easy to manage and a pleasure to own, teach your dog to sit when being greeted (so it never jumps up) and only small patting from friends, family ect. It is important for your dog to have off the lead exercise, however, good training is essential to ensure it comes back to you when called. Control any overenthusiastic adults and children around your puppy/dog, do not allow overenthusiastic petting and play.

We in no way imply, or act upon, any physical or cruel discipline towards any dog, in any way at all. We can assure you your dog will be treated with love and respect, and we carry out training and discipline in a calm appropriate manner, if your dog gets distressed or agitated though his/her session, then we will cut the session short and carry on where we left off into the next session, this is purely because, dogs which have short attention spans become bored and start to have selective hearing ie misbehave.

If you require any more training or advice, then please ask, I train to the more advanced stage of, gundog training, and fun agility to stimulate the brain and make training more fun.

We hope you and your dog enjoys your training sessions, we wish you every success in owning a happy obedient family companion.

All the best from your trainer Hayley, and thank you for showing an interest in Pawfect Manners Dog Training.

Thanks again
